NOVEMBER 11.—Siz:—I have the bonor to enclose you the report of Commander W. H. Marone in relation to the capture of the batteries and town of Plymouth, North Carolina, which place, with all its defenses, was captured from our land forces some time last spring.

This was a very gailant sifair, and reflects great credit on the commander of the expedition and all concerned. It is a handsome finishing stroke after the blowing up of the ram.

all concerned. It is a handsome finishing stroke after the blowing up of the run.

The fruits of the capture are twenty-two cannon, and thirty-seven prisoners, two hundred stand of arms and more being picked up daily.

The flags of the fort and of the Albertarie and a large amount of ammunities were also taken. * * I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

COMMANDER MACOMB TO ADMIRAL PORTER. United States Shir "Shannock," off Play.

Nouth, N. C., November 1.—Sir:—I have the horor to report that on the 31st ult. I captured the enemy's batteries at Plymonth, N. C., and the ordenance and ordnance stores at that place and some prisoners, besides a quantity of provisions. The following is a report of the action:—

After the return of Licotenant W. R. Cashing from his expedition to blow up the Albemark at Plymonth, I determined on making an attack on the batteries defending that town. Accordingly, on the 20th ult, the vessels under my command the batteries defending that town. Accordingly, on the 20th ult, the vessels under my command at that time in Albemarle Sound got under way at about a quarter past eleven A. M., and proceeded up the Roanoke river in the following Order:—Commodore Hull, Shaerrock, Chicaper, Chaspo, Wyahrsing, and Tacong, the Falley City being sent at the same time up the Middle river, which joined the Roanoke above Plymonth, in order to cut off any vessels or supplies the Robels might attenut to carry on in that direction.

might attempt to carry one in that direction.

At about 12 o'clock M, we came within range of the lower latteries protecting the town, noon which we opened fire, which was returned. We continued to advance ontil within a mile of the works, when we discovered that the channel was obstructed, at a point opposite the batteries, by two schooners such one on each side of the wreek of the Southfield, which together formed a barrier that could only have been passed with great danger, if at all.

I therefore made signal to return, which was necordingly done, and the vessels ran out of the river at 2 P. M., with the exception of the Valley City, which vessel, having heard the dring commence and cease, and concluding that we had won the day, ran down the Roanoke river to within a abort distance of Plymouth, where she was fired, and then returned, reaching the sound at about 10 P. M.

On the morning of the 30th ultimo, having been informed that there was sufficient water in the Middle river, I determined to blockade the onemy at Plymouth by going up that river and guining the Roaneke above the town, knowing that the Rebels had no more vessels to sink in the chan-nel, and therefore that I should have only the batteries to contend against should I allyance from that direction.

from that direction.

I got under way in the Shamrock, following the tang Barkey, Acting Easign M. D. Ames commanding, having Mr. Alfred Everett, the pilot of the Wyallasing, on board, and followed by the Otsego, Wyallasing, Tacony, and Commodors Hall, in the order in which their names are montioned. The Chicopee and Valley were not present, the former having been sent by me the higher before to Newbern for repairs, and the latter being on the way to Hampton Rouds, Virginia, with Lieutenant W. B. Cushing and his despatches, both having started belove I had decided on ascending the Middle river. By the good on ascending the Middle river. By the good piloting of Mr. Everett the vessels got safely through into the Rosmoke river at about 4 o'cle P. M. I left the Commodore Hall in the Middle river to prevent the enemy from laying torpedoes of our way through Middle river we had by compass courses over the woods at Plymonto, at distances varying from 2640 to 1700 yards, and I have since learned that our fire at that time was very effective. It was late in the afternoon when we arrived in the Rotzoke, on account of the extreme narrowness and the curves of the Middle river, but, to prevent the enemy from blockading the river, or putling torpedoes in the channels, I deposed to within short range of the 100-pounder P-rrots. within short range of the 100-pounder Parrotts and shelled him for an hour or so. Easi's on the morning of the Elat uhimo, having determine on attacking the natteries, I sent a tray disartise Middle river for the Commodore Hull and comon attacking the batteries, I sent a tuz does the Middle river for the Commodore Had and commenced preparations for the action.

At about 8 A. 21, the Commodore Had arrived, and I stationed her at the head of the line, a before, on account of her ability to are directly ahead. At about 9 A. M. the United States steamer Whitehead came up the Middle river, having on board stores for the vessels it alternarie Sound, from the navel depot at Nowbern. As her 100-plander Parrott had been taken out, I had her hished along sile the Torony, the tug Scaley being lashed to the Shearrock, and, the Rebr to the Ores (all on the port side), to keep the vessels in modos, in case their engines should be damaged. We also had the steam blown off the starboard boilers of all the double-enders, the fires banked very low beneath them, and the stop valve between the two boilers of each ship closed, so that there was no steam in the starboard boilers, but the water in them being warm, it could be got up in a short

The hatteries still keld out, though their five arm to be mild; but as the Shamrock passed hem one of her shells exploded in their magazine, hem one of the ragclick biew up with great force, some of the rag-lents failing on our decks. This evidently arred a panic among the Rebels, for from that me their fire stackened and at length ceased

I then made signal to cease firing, and to land

The Engineer Department, under Second Assistant Engineer W. H. Harrison, was very effectent. The different divisions were worked remarkably well, and in the most spirited and effective manner, for which I am in a great measure indicated to Lauremant Duer, Executive Officer, and the others of the different divisions. —The New York Times this morning says:—

"The Secretary of the Treasury has prepared his reply to the offer of a lean to the United States Government made by a German banker, a short time since, through the State Department, for a thousand million dellars. He has fully examined the details of the proposal, and has come to the conclusion that there is no authority of law which would anthorize him to entertain the proposition. He so informs the party making the offer, stating in his reply that the question is one solely for the consideration of Congress, and that until that body will pass a law sanctoning such a loan he must decline accaping it. He, however, intimates that the whole matter and the accompanying papers will be referred to that the accompanying papers will be referred to that body upon the opening of the next session, with a recommendation that the subject be favorably
